EXPLORE WILDLIFE CLOSELY WITH TIGERWALAH

If you wish to spend some time in the lap of nature, away from the hustle-bustle of cities, visiting natural parks or wildlife sanctuaries can be an exciting option. The best way to explore wildlife closely is through jungle safaris which take you through the interiors of the jungle in a jeep. However, booking a safari can become a bit difficult, especially during peak seasons. To provide a solution to this problem, Tigerwalah takes responsibility and makes sure that you get the desired experience while keeping your budget in mind.

Jim Corbett National Park

Lying in the Nainital district of Uttarakhand, Jim Corbett National Park is known for its magical landscape and tiger richness. It provides a habitat for a lot of animals including Royal Bengal tigers, crocodiles, ghariyals, elephants and rhinoceros. With a diverse landscape of grasslands, marshy depressions, lakes and hills, it truly is a paradise for sightseeing lovers. When it comes to booking a jungle safari, it starts 60 days before the date of visit. To avoid any last-minute inconvenience, Tigerwalah books the safari in advance. They also take care of your accommodation and reserve forest rest houses for you in case you want to get a complete jungle experience.

Ranthambore National Park

It is one of the largest national parks in Northern India located in Rajasthan. It attracts a lot of tourists every year for tiger spotting. The park is surrounded by many hotels to take care of your stay. The best time to enjoy jungle safari is from November to March when the weather is favourable and there are greater chances of spotting the elusive big cat. The numerous water bodies inside the park and very few patches with tall grasses contribute to great wildlife viewing, during safaris. You can even get lucky by spotting a tiger on the safari tracks as they are comfortable to walk on the soft sand that allows them to walk, without alerting their prey.

Bandhavgarh National Park

This national park is an attractive tourist spot of the Umaria district in Madhya Pradesh. In addition to the tigers, it is also famous for deer, leopards, Indian bison, nilgais, wild boars, etc. You can even spot white tigers here. The mix of sal trees, grasslands and the tropical forest is home to numerous species of birds like grey Malabar and brown fantails. Apart from normal jeep safaris, Bandhavgarh also offers full-day safaris which are issued to filmmakers and photographers. When you witness the majestic cat within close proximity, it fills you with awe and feels like a once-in-a-lifetime experience.

Kanha National Park

Kanha National Park is located in Madhya Pradesh and boasts of a wide variety of flora and fauna. It provides habitat to Royal Bengal tigers, leopards, sloth bears, sambhars, wild dogs, jackals and barasingha. Travelers from all around the world visit this park due to its well-developed infrastructure and tiger sightings. It is especially an ideal site for bird photographers who get to witness around 300 species of birds including painted francolin, grey-headed fish eagle, Indian vulture, mottled wood owl and many more. This place offers normal safaris, night safaris and full-day safaris.

Pench Tiger Reserve

Located on the southern boundary of Madhya Pradesh, Pench Tiger Reserve has a mosaic of vegetation ranging from moist to dry deciduous forests with the highest population of herbivores including sambhar, chital, etc. This Tiger Reserve attracts a lot of carnivores like tigers and leopards and has gained popularity after being a part of the famous Jungle Book. Many crisscrossed streams and water bodies bring the animals towards the park for sightseeing.

The only thing you need to do is decide the place you would like to visit and leave the rest with Tigerwalah. With a team of highly trained and efficient guides, there won’t be a single dull moment in the entire trip. Let Tigerwalah take care of the planning and time management along with the promise of a unique experience each time.
